

September 21-23, 2007
Camp Cho-Yeh in Livingston ,Texas

The Excel of the Armadillo team held its' 39th weekend exercise in Christian Community Living at the Presbyterian camp, Camp Cho-Yeh in the "Big Thicket". This location is near the town of Livingston and close to an Indian reservation in East Texas.

This was also our 25th. year of being an active EXCEL team!

We were so blessed to have 45 of us, (team, friends, and first time participants) share this exciting and spirit lead retreat.

God is indeed good!

We are always blessed to see and know that when we conduct one of these spiritual retreat exercises, that many of the participants lives are changed and that many of the graduates return from an Excel weekend revived and renewed to work within their churches and start become activity involved within their local congregations. Praise be to God that is exactly what has happened after this weekend was concluded. Many of the folks that attended this retreat are now actively involved in the ministries of our church, such as becoming one of our lay delegates, lead people of various ministries (ex. Children and Youth ministry, care teams, etc.)

May God continue to bless you and our mutual love for EXCEL and we wish all you the very best in our walk in "Union with God"!

